I am very much opposed to the Microsoft settlement where they would give computers to schools. Make them pay money and give it to the schools to buy what they want. Don't lock the school in to ourdated computers and old software that the schools will have to upgrade at a premium price from Microsoft. Not only does this help Microsoft but it does great harm to Apple. Apple has a strong market in the schools and Microsoft would take this over.

If this goes through Microsoft will be laughing out-loud at the Justice Department.
